PRACTICE AREAS

- Insurance Litigation

Tracy is a senior law clerk in the Insurance Litigation group. She brings over 25 years of experience in the legal profession to her current role, which is focused primarily on civil litigation, with an emphasis on defending personal injury matters as well as life and disability claims.

In addition to her insurance litigation experience, Tracy has worked extensively in other areas of litigation including family law and estate planning. Previous roles at other law firms have contributed to her extensive knowledge of the legal industry. These experiences have also helped her to adapt easily to the varied working styles of different lawyers.

Tracy's excellent organizational skills and meticulous approach to her work are admired by individuals at all levels of the firm. She is a respected mentor to many of the firm's co-op students who appreciate her insight and the enjoyable learning experience she provides for those looking to pursue a career in law.
