Date: April 21, 2020

Author: Sunita Doobay

As the COVID-19 pandemic continues to have a significant impact on businesses across Canada, governments continue to respond with programs designed to offer support.

We provide below a summary of Federal and Ontario government tax and other measures developed to support business during this challenging time.

Federal Measures

Employment Benefit

On April 14, 2020, the CRA stated at the APFF (Association de planification fiscale et financière) that in the context of the COVID crisis, the CRA is willing to accept a reimbursement of an amount not exceeding $500 for the purchase of personal computer equipment to be principally for the benefit of the employer. In other words, the $500 would not be a taxable benefit to the employee.

75% Wage Subsidy

A 75% Wage Subsidy is available to eligible employers for up to 12 weeks retroactive to March 15, 2020. The twelve weeks is broken down into three periods.

	Period
Period 1	March 15 to April 11
Period 2	April 12 to May 9
Period 3	May 10 to June 6

To qualify for the Wage Subsidy, a company has to have experienced a decline in revenues of at least 15% in March 2020, and at least 30% in April 2020 and May 2020. Revenue is calculated under the accrual method or on the cash method. It cannot be a combination of both.

The determination of whether a decline has happened is made by comparing revenue earned in March, April and May either to the same months in 2019 or by comparing it to an average of your revenue in January and February of 2020.

Once a business qualifies for one period, it automatically qualifies for the next period.

The above relief provisions came into force on April 11 which meant that a business that had laid off employees prior to April 11 would not be able to claim the subsidy for Period I. Discussions by a member of the tax community with the Department of Finance confirmed that the subsidy would be available if such employees were retroactively placed back on payroll for March 15. This strategy could only work however if the employer was able on a timely basis to re-hire the employee because an employer is not eligible to claim the Subsidy if wages paid to an employee in a week falls within a 4-week period for which the employee is eligible for CERB (Canada Emergency Response Benefit).

Under CERB, a laid off employee is eligible for a taxable benefit of $2,000 every 4 weeks for up to 16 weeks.

Under the wage subsidy program an employee will be entitled to the least of $847 per week, 75% of baseline remuneration and 100% current remuneration.

A business can be a sole proprietorship, taxable corporations, non-profit organizations, registered charities, and partnerships of eligible employers. Public bodies such as municipalities, local governments, colleges and universities, schools, hospitals, and Crown corporations are not eligible for the subsidy.

The Federal Government expects employers to make their best efforts to return employee salaries to pre-crisis levels. What constitutes “best efforts” was not defined in the legislation.

The Wage Subsidy as titled applies only to “wages” which is in essence remuneration paid to employees and subject to payroll withholdings. A shareholder of a closely held corporation will not be entitled to relief under the Wage Subsidy program but can seek relief under the CERB program.

CRA has now an online calculator available for employers to calculate the wage subsidy. Please see the following link: <https://www.canada.ca/en/revenue-agency/services/subsidy/emergency-wage-subsidy/cews-calculate-subsidy-amount.html>

Applications can be submitted on April 27, 2020 through the my business portal. Please see <https://www.canada.ca/en/revenue-agency/services/subsidy/emergency-wage-subsidy/cews-how-apply.html>.

It previously offered loans to business with a narrower range of payrolls, between $50,000 and $1 million. Repaying the loan on or before December 31, 2022 will result in a loan forgiveness of 25% (up to $10,000).

If payroll is lower than $1 million, the employer does not need to notify the Ministry of Finance.

For employers with payrolls larger than $1 million, Ontario announced on March 25, 2020 a deferral until August 31, 2020 to make such payment without interest or penalty. This deferral applies to any provincially administered tax.
